Volunteers Needed!

GSCS volunteers must be approved; apply online at <https://bit.ly/JHEvolunteer>. Contact Dixie Johnston, Parent Liaison, at 770-229-3777 or dixie.johnston@gscs.org if you need help getting started! Can't come to school to help? We can send things for you to do at home and send back!

Contact your child's teacher:
firstname.lastname@gscs.org

After the Student-led Conference...

- Talk with your child about what you discussed
- Talk about any plans or goals for improvement you might have
- Talk to your child about building on strengths and improving weaknesses
- Keep in touch with the teacher on a regular basis to find out about progress your child is making

Do you need a parent-teacher conference?

- Review work samples, report cards, progress reports or other items sent home by the teacher
- Review school policies and the handbook
- Talk with your child about why you are having the conference and what you hope to learn at the conference. Get your child's input as to strengths, weaknesses, and areas of concern.

At the parent-teacher conference:

- Listen to the teacher's comments
- Ask questions about your child's progress
- Look for positive points that you can build on to help your child succeed
- Get clarification on anything you don't understand
- Ask the teacher to help you develop specific goals and actions for your child if needed

Questions to Ask

- What are my child's academic strengths and weaknesses?
- Do you have any concerns about my child's progress so far this year?
- Is my child performing at grade level? If not, in what subjects does my child need extra help?
- What can I do at home to make sure my child reaches mastery on grade-level or course-level standards?
- How can I support literacy at home?
- What questions should I ask my child about school and learning each day?
- How will you communicate with me? How would you like me to communicate with you?
- What can I do at home to support you in the classroom?
- How is my child adjusting socially and emotionally this year?
